The Lampreys Community Pride Day

Courtyards at The Lampreys estate are due to get a new look during a Gloucester City Homes Community Pride Event being held on Tuesday 19th May starting at 10am.

The Community Pride Day is being held in partnership with The Lampreys Residents Association along with GCH partners Lovell and Morrison.

The concept of Community Pride has been developed in partnership with tenants during a review of 2008 Community Action Days and marks a significant move from tidying areas to developing community pride. Each event will feature different activities, individually tailored to the needs and interests of residents in that area.

The courtyards at the Lampreys will be cleaned and new planters will be installed, along with other garden work on the estate.

Community Pride Days are an opportunity for local residents to join together and take part in activities that will make a real difference to the community and instil a sense of pride in the community.

GCH Chief Executive Ashley Green comments: 'This promises to be a fantastic event and we hope as many residents as possible will attend on the day to join with us to complete these improvements to the area.'

Local residents are welcome to join in on the day and should wear suitable clothing and footwear.
